

It is time to start the Fukushima Conservation Corps !

To revive Fukushima and northeastern Japan

by the hands of young people as a form of Conservation Corps

Tatsuya TSUKAMOTO Tochigi Conservation Corps

(EarthCorps corpsmember in 1999)

On 11th March, 2011

the 9.0 quake hit Japan...

Many people have been fighting to save as many people as possible But, unfortunately...

15,202 people have died

8,718 people are still missing

(data: 24st May, 2011)

And the tragedy continues

Fukushima Daiichi Nuclear Plant was damaged..and nobody knows when it will be fixed.

After Emergency rescue Phase, we are now in Revive phase.

People never give up, people support people,

Over 100,000 volunteers have worked with local people to restore their daily lives and the towns

In 1999, I joined Conservation Corps in Seattle(EarthCorps) and learned that American people had created Conservation Corps to overcome national danger.

I believe in the power of young people, and I thought it is time to start a Fukushima Conservation Corps, to work with young people, to reconstruct their lives and beautiful nature, and create a new future in Fukushima and Northeastern Japan.

It requires long time commitment

Fukushima Conservation Corps will work for Environment

restoration of beautiful nature and the landscapes that local people loved

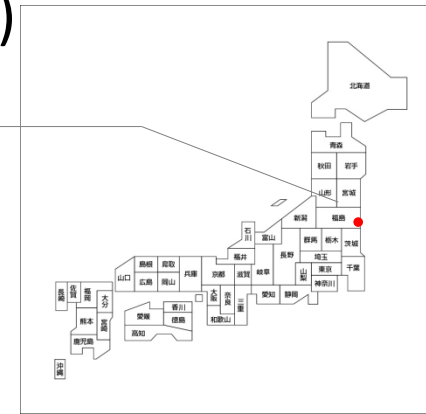

Reconstruction

to regain their daily life
